Rusty and Adriane

Riddick

Sierra Leone

Being raised on the mission field in Cameroon, Rusty Riddick has a love and passion for the people of Africa. In 1993 he married his wife, Adriane, who also had a call of God on her life to the African continent. Just months after they married they went to Cameroon where they served on the Associates In Missions program. Together they assisted in the ground work of sending the first Regional Missionary from Africa, Reverend Peter Mua, to Equatorial Guinea. The undeniable call of God worked in their lives and in 2010 they were appointed as missionaries to Cameroon. They moved to Douala, starting and establishing a church there. During their time in Cameroon many were baptized in Jesus name and filled with the Holy Ghost!

In 2016 the Riddicks changed their appointment to the country of Sierra Leone. Together as a family, they have a burden to reach lost souls and to build and establish churches in unreached cities.
