GLOBAL MISSIONS SERVICE

Allan and Georgene Shalm received Career Missionary appointment to India in 1980. Because they could not obtain resident visas for India, they settled in Karachi, Pakistan in 1982. There they pastored an English congregation, regularly traveled to India and Bangladesh, and established a correspondence course in the Hindi, Tamil, and Malayalam languages. After becoming General Superintendent of Pakistan in 1994, Brother Shalm planned a series of crusades which saw the work grow from 325 churches and preaching points and 20,000 constituents to almost 3,060 churches and preaching points and 155,000 constituents. One of Brother Shalm's major efforts was to prepare leadership and nationalize the work in Pakistan, which was accomplished. In 2012, the Shalms moved to Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, and are now traveling throughout the Asian and Pacific regions teaching, evangelizing, and promoting end-time Apostolic revival.
