Biography

Craig and Lyna Sully have been active in ministry in Africa since 1987. Their calling has allowed them the opportunity to minister across West Africa and beyond. They have lived in Nigeria, Burkina Faso, Togo, and currently call Senegal their home. They also pastored for eight years in New Brunswick, Canada, serving in district and national leadership roles. The Sullys are the founding pastors of the headquarters church in Dakar, Senegal, and are involved in church plants in the city, focusing on expanding the church throughout the nation. They serve as Area Coordinators for the Far-West zone of Africa, which includes nine countries, and lead "Africa Aflame", the literature ministry of Africa. Living in Africa's most expensive city, they are focused on finding creative and God-directed means of growing new congregations as well as finding a permanent site for the Headquarters of the UPCI in Senegal.
